BETTERMENT PROJECTS PROGRESSED

North Burnett Regional Council's 2017 Natural Disaster Relief and Recovery Arrangements (NDRRA) funded Betterment Projects are one step closer to finalisation with the completion of the Airport Road Betterment Project.

The project, consists of road construction and road protection works, including a concrete apron and rock protection, to increase resilience in future rain events and subsequent water inundation.

Council received $5.3M funding to undertake Betterment works through the State Governments NDRRA program. Works commenced in April 2018, incorporating ten (10) projects and fifteen (15) assets. The overall program is scheduled for completion in April 2019, weather permitting. To date, six out of the ten projects have been completed, with works accomplished through a combination of council labour and contractors.

Council acknowledges both Australian and Queensland governments for this funding, which has allowed Council to complete works which will improve the overall resilience to flooding.

Are you an experienced or budding entertainer looking for somewhere to perform? North Burnett Regional Council's new RADF project 'Busk Out' may be just the initiative you are looking for!

Council has waived the busking licence fee usually required to perform on the street from now until mid 2019. Buskers can now complete a busking licence form and footpath obstruction choosing dates, times and locations they would like to perform and submit for approval. This initiative is open to locals, itinerants and even visiting artists who may be coming to the area.

Sometimes... people say they don't see me around, sometimes it is said innocently and sometimes there's the implication that if people don't see me - I mustn't be working. So, this week I'm giving you a rundown of what's currently on my desk and where I've been over the last month. Here are the highlights, in between these I have engaged in community meetings, events and four days in the office catching up on paperwork (and four days at home with my family).

Highlight 1: We are working on modelling the economic value of the roads within our region with QUT. It is hoped this project will help us demonstrate to the State and Federal governments that their methodology of road funding may need looking at. To give you an example of how their methodology works currently - they don't look at sealing any roads which don't traffic 1500 cars a day. This project will be able to prove to them the value in road maintenance in our region and the need to increase funding and therefore improve outcomes.

Highlight 2: We spent 3.5 hours from beginning concept to end in filming the Emergency Management Dashboard & Get Ready Queensland Week launch video. We used this video to get used to our recording equipment as it's our desire to do more videos to community so you can understand what's going on inside council more. This 'dodgy but fun' video even caught the eye of Queensland Reconstruction Authority and they will be displaying it at the Local Government conference next week as an example of doing things differently.

Highlight 3: Two days were spend at Longreach and Winton partnering with tourism agencies in preparation for next year's tourist drive market. A decision was reached by council a few months ago to move away from Bundaberg North Burnett Tourism (BNBT) and move towards inland tourism as we saw better synergies with our inland friends. BNBT is still our Regional Tourism Organisation and will still work to promote our region, we just needed to be proactive in seeking tourism opportunities for our region, and those opportunities lay inland.

Highlight 4: I attended the Regional Economic Growth Forum in Bundaberg along with a bus full of #BurnettInland people. These forums are a great insight into business and industry in the area.

Highlight 5: On this day I was also presented with the draft "Building the future trade potential of the Wide Bay Burnett" report. This report models future trade potential out of the port of Bundaberg and highlights infrastructure needed to achieve future growth. The report documents a great start, but it has been identified as needing some improvements!

Highlight 6: We also had a briefing from Sunwater as to their plans to lower Paradise Dam by up to 17.6m. Suffice to say this came as a bit of a shock. Council is working towards ascertaining what exactly that would mean to our recreational areas and water reliability in the system. This now has triggered a rush to finalise work on our future water security planning as Sunwater has said a decision will be reached December 2019. We have a year to either change their minds or find a solution or range of solutions in spite of Paradise.

Highlight 7: I attended a Cania Dam break disaster management exercise with all other emergency services where we modeled an earthquake and damage to the dam wall. We do these exercises quite often to hone our skills and also find gaps in our learnings.

Highlight 8: We had the State Government come up and deliver the new Belcarra legislation to councilors. Much of this legislation comes into effect on 3rd December and there is some substantial changes to the way we do things.

Highlight 9: I attended the first North Burnett Principals forum where the YOUth Matters ideas were discussed around a table of passionate principals. I really hope to see some great outcomes from these meetings.

My calendar is full, but my door is always open and my mobile is always on. Please get in touch if you need.

Talk soon, Rachel.
